

Seeking Translators!

Ignatius Press is currently seeking German translators to translate book-length works into English. Applicants must have English as their native language and be able to demonstrate accuracy and precision in translation as well as a good sense of English literary style. A knowledge of Catholic theological and philosophical vocabulary is also helpful.

If you are interested and meet these criteria, please send a cover letter and résumé highlighting your qualifications and experience.

Qualifying applicants will be asked to translate a few pages of text, provided by us, as a sample. (No payment is made for the translation test.)

Please send cover letter and résumé to:
